WEDNESDAY JAN. 20, 1875.

THE CENTRAL VS. THE TEXAS PACIFIC RAILROAD.

A Washington special says the Central Pacific's proposition to be allowed to extend the Southern Pacific to Colorado and eastward until the Texas Pacific is continuously constructed, to meet and receive Government aid in construction, will soon be laid before the House Committee, where it will be strenuously opposed by Tom Scott and the San Diego interest represented by David Felsenfeld; also, by Houghton, who has the subject in charge. At the latter's instance Scott agrees to amend his bill so as to require the construction of twenty-five miles from San Diego during the first year, and fifty miles annually thereafter. The friends of the Texas Pacific charge that the Southern Pacific movement is designed to defeat the construction of any trans-continent line which would compete with the Central Pacific. This Huntington and Colton deny, saying the Southern Pacific is not controlled by the Central and asserting that they are animated only by a desire to close up the gap between their road and any coming from the East as quickly as possible. They fail to explain the disinterestedness of the entire Central lobby in their activity in behalf of the Southern Pacific. Colton argues that the people of California should not oppose the movement because if it succeeds California will control the trade of Arizona, while if Scott's road reaches California it will discriminate against their shippers so as to compel the carriage of freight over longer distances to and from the Eastern States. All railroads discriminate against way points beyond their lines when they can, and thereby force freights over the longer line. Colton does not seem to remember that such discriminations have been constantly made by the Central Pacific, and that, as they can be effectively guarded against by proper provisions in the Texas bill, there is no necessity for seeking the people's protection at the hands of a monopoly whose whole history is a manifest contempt for popular rights and interests.

OUR PROJECTED NARROW-GAUGE.

The Carson correspondent of the Bulletin furnishes some additional intelligence concerning the proposed narrow-gauge road northward from Reno. He says: "Considerable interest is manifested in the bill authorizing the construction of a narrow-gauge railroad from Dayton, in Lyon county, to Reno, and thence to the State line in Long Valley, California. The hope is expressed that the road will be built and continued through Beckwith's Pass to Oroville, and ultimately joined with the Benicia narrow-gauge. This will give a competing line to the Central Pacific, and the effect would be reduction in passenger fares and freight rates between California and Nevada, thus relieving both communities from the infliction of the high rates now charged by the Stanford monopoly. The incorporators named in the bill are John T. Coleman, Benjamin Lucas and R. K. Spires. The preliminary survey is to be made by the 1st of June next, and five miles of the road built by the 1st of Jan. 1876, under a forfeiture to the State of $50,000. The bill requires the company to report annually to the Secretary of State—first, the cost of construction; second, the amount expended for repairs; third, the cost of rolling stock; fourth, the amount annually expended upon the same; fifth, the gross annual earnings; sixth, the net annual earnings; seventh, the number of passengers carried; and eighth, the amount of freight carried. There is a clause in the bill conceding the right of the Legislature to regulate passenger fares and freight rates, with the proviso with the company is to be entitled to a dividend of not less than fifteen per cent. The primary object of the bill is reported as being to afford an outlet for the coal mines existing at Dayton. The bill is under reference to the Committee on Corporations.

PACIFIC COAST.

Continued—Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18. The case of the German bondholders vs. the California Pacific Railroad came up in the United States Circuit Court this morning. Defendant—the corporation—it will be remembered petitioned in this court to have an adverse decision. Judge Hoffman reviewed and set aside. An order was made by Judge Sawyer for the petitioners in bankruptcy to show cause why the prayer of defendants should not be granted. Hearing was set for this morning but on motion of Mr. Haight, counsel for the bondholders, with the counsel of the other side, the matter was continued until the 28th of February.

Rev. Dr. David J. Lee, formerly rector and founder of St. Lukes Episcopal Church, San Francisco, was drowned in the Amazon river August last. He was in the service of the London South American Missionary Society. He was at one time Chaplain of Oriental Lodge, No. 144, F. & A. M., of this city. Dr. Lee was a blood relative of Scotland's bard Robert Burns.

Marks' Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18.

A. M. Crane, of counsel for the prosecution in the case of the people of the State of California vs J. J. Marks, et al., has filed a complaint in the Fourth District Court against J. J. Marks, Charles Lux, H. M. Newhall, Thomas W. Brannan, John Morhon and John Rosenfeld. The complaint alleges that Marks as principal and other defendants as sureties, executed the bond received by law from Marks as Harbor Commissioner. This Marks corruptly neglected to discharge his duty as a member of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners and in his official capacity so managed affairs pertaining to the revenue derived from rent, tolls, wharfage, etc., as to appropriate such revenue to his own use. The complaint specifies as one case the lease of the Washington street wharf to Goodall & Nelson on the 1st day of February, 1870. Numerous similar charges are also given. It is alleged the State was damaged to the extent of $113,551 25 by the acts of Marks. Plaintiffs demand judgment against Marks for $50,000; also for $10,000 in addition, jointly with other defendants, making the additional $50,000, also for $10,000 against each of the other defendants jointly, with Marks and for such further judgment as may be legal and costs.

CHANGED THEIR GAME.—The three card monte men operating on the railroad are equal to any emergency. No sooner had the law been passed than they put their heads together to invent some method to defeat it. The result is already shown; instead of the "drunken, bleared-eyed" innocent who was found throwing about three cards, and who every one endeavored to rob and found themselves the victim, the manipulator of the paste-boards now goes after the ignorant with four cards. They throw them just about as easy as three, and a ticket with a torn corner or creased side, changes its spot as of yore. The additional card enhances the beauty of the game; and from a gentleman who arrived from the railroad yesterday we learn that passengers lay over at Battle Mountain in order to get a chance at the coin. The ruse will hardly pass, however, as the most stringent efforts will be made to break up the gang that infest the railroad. Operators in three and four-card monte, strap, padlock and all similar devices, will have to change their base out of the State or run a favorable chance of going to the Warm Springs for their health.—Eureka Sentinel, Jan. 17th.

ALTHOUGH the ranchers are jubilant over this heavy snow, in anticipation of plenty of water next summer, the stockmen are fearfully anxious, lest it will be disastrous to stock again, as it was last winter.

BELMONT MINE AND MILL.

The Belmont Company are active at work extracting ore from the bonanza or rich body of ore developed, of which a detailed account was given in the Courier, of date December 19. At that time the 300-foot level (about 550 feet in length, running north from the perpendicular shaft) lacked about 60 feet of reaching the winze (120 feet in depth) which runs from the 200 to the 300-foot level. About two weeks since connection was made with the lower level and winze when force of hands were set to work stopping on the bonanza, and from what is already known of the extent of this valuable deposit, there will certainly be no scarcity of good ore for at least eight months to come. [This is based on our own judgment. We don't own a share of the stock, and have no interest whatever in misrepresenting the condition of the mine.] The mine is looking well, and is now being worked in a systematic manner. During the extraction of the bonanza, another hundred feet is being sunk in the shaft which will make a perpendicular depth of 400 feet from the surface. And on its completion the 400-foot level will be run to a point immediately under where stopping is now progressing from the 300-foot level. By this mode of working the mine there will never be any occasion for running short of ore, as ample time will be afforded for exploring lower levels ahead of the present large deposit, and so on as levels are worked out.

There is, or will be, by Monday next, about 400 tons of good ore at the Belmont-Monitor mill, at which time the stamps will be put to work. The time for starting had been fixed for the 10th, but in over hauling the machinery it was found expedient to make more repairs than was at first contemplated. —Belmont Courier 16.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.

To the Hon. S. H. Wright, District Judge Second Judicial District, in and for Washoe county, Nevada. The Grand Jury impaneled for the January term of said court A. D. 1875, beg leave to submit the following as their final report:

We have investigated six State cases and have found four true bills, as follows: One for burglary, one for robbery and two for grand larceny. In two cases examined the Grand Jury ignored the charges.

The law also allows the Auditor to draw warrants on the School Fund which not being reported to the Superintendent creates confusion.

To the Grand Jury for the January term 1875, we your committee to examine hospital and jail beg leave to submit the following report: That we thoroughly examined the hospital and find everything clean and comfortable and that the occupants of said hospital have no need of complaint. There are at present five occupants, four male and one female. We also examined the jail and find the cells in good order, and the jail itself kept clean and healthy in every particular.

We would suggest the County Commissioners to attend at once to the roof of the cupola on the Court House, which by examination we find has leaked and has to some extent penetrated the ceiling of the story below. Respectfully submitted,

We have also compared the books of the County Superintendent with those of the County Auditor and find discrepancies that cannot be reconciled. The Auditor having reported revenue and the same having been apportioned at odd times during the month when the revenue was large, so that no comparison can be made with the monthly accounts of the county officers.

The Superintendent has now balanced his accounts to July 1st, 1875, and will keep a monthly account of receipts and disbursements, so that the labor of future committees will be light so far as he is concerned.

The law also allows the Auditor to draw warrants on the School Fund which not being reported to the Superintendent creates confusion.

To the Grand Jury for the January term 1875, we your committee to examine hospital and jail beg leave to submit the following report: That we thoroughly examined the hospital and find everything clean and comfortable and that the occupants of said hospital have no need of complaint.
